TOPGOLF SELECTS COLOGIX'S DALLAS INFOMART DATA CENTER TO SUPPORT MISSION-CRITICAL INFRASTRUCTURE

Denver, Colorado – May 30, 2013 – Cologix™, a network neutral interconnection and colocation company, today announced that TopGolf, the emerging global leader in golf entertainment, has selected Cologix's Dallas INFOMART data center to house the mission-critical infrastructure of its rapidly growing business.

TopGolf, which serves more than 1.5 million guests annually at its nine locations throughout the United States and the United Kingdom, provides a golf experience that uses microchip technology inside golf balls that are shot into several targets to score points. Players receive instant feedback on how far they have hit a shot and are allocated points based on distance and accuracy.

"TopGolf is a company known for its innovative technology, and we needed a local provider that could support our strategic objectives," stated TopGolf Director of IT Services Len Brown. "Cologix has a responsive local team and provided the reliable, scalable infrastructure we require to meet the demands of our high-growth business."

With data centers in Dallas, Minneapolis, Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, Cologix provides one of North America's largest neutral marketplaces where network operators and network buyers interconnect. Cologix offers more than 330 network choices, manages thousands of interconnections and has over 550 customers that utilize Cologix's colocation and interconnection services to scale its networks' needs rapidly and cost-effectively.

"We are pleased that we are able to provide mission-critical facilities for TopGolf, as it continues to grow and expand its business in the United States and United Kingdom," stated Rob DeVita, General Manager, Cologix Dallas. "TopGolf's choice to future-proof its network and IT infrastructure by gaining access to a broad set of network providers with no switching costs is representative of a forward-looking growth enterprise, and we are excited to have partnered with TopGolf."
