

COLOGIX WELCOMES OVH.COM TO MONTREAL DATA CENTER

1250 Rene Levesque data center to house OVH.com web hosting infrastructure

Denver, CO – March 29, 2012 – Cologix™, a network neutral interconnection and colocation company, announced today that European web hosting provider, OVH.com, will leverage Cologix's 1250 Rene Levesque data center to extend its presence into downtown Montreal. OVH.com, based in Roubaix, France, operates 110,000 servers at its six European data centers and provides localized services in Canada, US, Germany, Italy, Poland, Spain, UK, Ireland, Finland, Portugal, Czech Republic, Lithuania, Netherlands, Morocco, Tunisia and Senegal. The robust connectivity of the 1250 Rene Levesque facility will enable OVH.com to reach a broader set of North American customers seeking web hosting services.

"We are excited to further extend our services into Montreal and access a great base of customers through the Cologix data center at 1250 Rene Levesque," stated Octave Klabka, CEO of OVH.com. "It is the only data center in Montreal where all the networks connect giving us exposure to customers seeking our high performance hosting solutions."

Cologix is Montreal's leading network neutral provider, operating the only carrier hotel at 1250 Rene Levesque. North American customers are supported by 80,000 square feet of data center footprint in the city. Cologix offers direct access to over 70 networks through its Meet-Me-Room and supports robust ecosystems for telecom services, hosting, financial services and content delivery.

"As the number 1 web hosting company in Europe, OVH.com has built a reputable web solutions company with more than 400,000 corporate customers and 8,000,000 clients," said Sean Maskell, President, Cologix Canada. "We are proud that they have chosen the network neutral Cologix platform to enable their growth in Montreal and we look forward to introducing them to the web solution buyers in Quebec."
